We change Business System!

On Wednesday April 1, TK Logistik AB will change its business system. We then leave the current system, which has been our companion since 2008, and move on to CIS Spedition.

The change is driven by the fact that we have worked in two different business systems since the fusion with Fraktpartner.

As most certainly we are aware, that some "turbulence" in connection with such a system change cannot be ruled out. Both we and our IT partner will of course do everything we can to make it run as smoothly as possible, but we still ask for indulgence with any operational disruptions during the beginning of April.

Similarly, we hope for your patience during the same period, we would take slightly longer than usual for apparently simple questions. No matter how much you are trained and practiced, it is only when you "go live" and it becomes a sharp situation that you are really put to the test.

Customers who book through Unifaun will work as before, and your bookings made from April 1 will enter the new system.

A new customer login page will also be launched on April 1st for all our web booking customers.

If you do not have a web booking today but want this opportunity, contact your local contact and we will help you get started.

Yours Sincerely

Mats Nordström
